

FELLER | WENDT, LLC

PERSONAL INJURY ATTORNEYS

With his unexplained Southern drawl, captivating presence and innate ability to make everyone in the room feel like they've known him for years, Matthew Feller is well-suited to the courtroom. "I think I was born to be a trial lawyer," he says. "My strengths have always been the ability to rely on my instincts; I can chuck and jive with the best of em'." His inborn ability to connect with folks from all walks of life has clearly served him well both in and out of the courtroom.

In 2009, Feller joined forces with long-time friend and colleague Thaddeus Wendt. A tall, well-groomed, articulate businessman turned lawyer, Wendt's progressive thinking and contagious attitude has taken the firm to new heights. "I take pride in protecting our community through my efforts as a trial lawyer," says Wendt. "Nothing is more satisfying than bringing justice to those harmed by the deliberate choices of another."

"Although we've faced our trials, and have made our fair share of mistakes, we've only ever had one goal in mind—to do the best possible job for the clients that walk through our doors," FW.

In 2014, Feller & Wendt named Brian Hansen equity partner. Everyone that knows him, describes Hansen as having the attitude and humor that the world needs; energetic, full of life, and always a pleasure to share company with. "I'm passionate about helping people who have been wronged," he says. "We succeed because the founders built this firm on honor and integrity," says Hansen. "And together we plan to keep it that way."

Feller, named to Rising Stars (2017 & 2018) joined the faculty of the Nationally recognized Keenan Ball Trial College in 2013. He now serves as both a faculty member and co-dean for the Keenan Ball Trial College, and the Keenan Trial Institute where he teaches lawyers how to try cases. In 2017 Feller was voted in as a board member of Prevent Child Abuse Utah.

1834 E. 3100 NORTH, LAYTON, UT 84040 | PH: (801) 499-5060 | FX: (801) 499-5064

fellerwendt.com

Our Family Protecting Yours